The News.

We have later news from Europe by the arrival of the steamer Prince Albert, which, however, contains nothing of special importance.—The Liverpool breadstuffs market was generally quiet. A heavy sale on the English coast had done considerable damage to the shipping.

Further returns from the Kansas election, all go to confirm the general opinion that the Government "proposition" to become a slave State, would be indignantly spurned by the patriotic people of that territory. In the city of Lawrence, there were only four votes for Lecompton, and seven hundred and eighteen against it. The entire majority against the proposition will be immense.

An Indian battle had occurred in the vicinity of Fort Kearney.

From Washington we learn that 2,000 well equipped troops will soon be in the Territories of Washington and Oregon, to attend to the hostile Indians. Gen. HARNEY will be in command.

HON. EDWARD WADE has been unanimously re-nominated by the Republicans of the 19th Congressional District, of Ohio.

The rejoicing throughout the country at the success of the Atlantic Telegraph enterprise was intense.

Wheat and flour advanced materially in the New York Market yesterday. In our own Market an advance took place in prices of nearly all descriptions of breadstuffs.

The weather was decidedly torid, the mercury being in the ninety's nearly all day, with but a very moderate lake breeze. In the city here it was considered one of the most oppressive days of the season.

The Atlantic Telegraph.

We have no news, yet, from the Eastern end of the Atlantic Telegraph wire. There seems, however, no reason to doubt that the Agamemnon has been as fortunate as the Niagara, and that, in the course of a day or two, the Ocean line will be connected with the land wires and despatches be regularly transmitted between the two Continents. Our Telegraph columns show that the news has been received, throughout the Union, with a phrenzy of delight. The event is one which the whole civilized world may most fitly commemorate.

THE STATE FAIR GROUNDS.—The Madison Journal learns that a contract has been entered into, between the State Agricultural Society and MESSRS. STEVENS, WYMAN & CHADWICK, for the entire fitting up of the grounds for the State Fair—including fencing, and all buildings, yards, &c., required.

The Journal says:

These men are thorough going workers, understanding fully what is wanted, and know well how to perform the service. They have had experience in such things, and will no doubt do a job that will do credit to the occasion, and to themselves. We are glad the work is in to good hands, and anticipate a fair show of business for times like these.—Madison Journal.

ORDER REIGNS IN WARSAW.—The revolution is over and all is peace again. No one killed, no one is injured, and some few are badly frightened. The sun shines as brightly as ever, and we had a thunder storm for twenty-four hours.

Two of the retiring Aldermen have reconsidered their rash determination and have come back again. Fortunately these two were the best of the three. We are glad to see them back again. Let them stick up to their duty and not propose to retire again because their feelings are injured.

The Alderman who stays out ought never to have been in. Every one is glad that he is out. His place will be filled by a better man.

Now all the fuss is over, let the work of governing the city go on economically and prudently. If there are any leaks let them be stopped. Let the House of Refuge be closed—let the county take care of the poor—let bickerings cease—and let brotherly love abound.—Dubuque Times, August 2d.

A VERY MELANCHOLY SUICIDE.—Mrs. Mary A. Chanlan, the wife of an Iaman in New York city, who had long been out of work, driven to desperation by want, jumped from the sixth story window upon a brick pavement, and met an instant and terrible death. On Monday her husband had looked all day for employment in vain, and on returning at night to his apartments in the sixth story of the above house, he was informed by his wife that there was nothing to eat. He replied by saying, "Mary, I will go to sea, and you can remain to your parents until better times." As Chanlan put his hand on the door to go out, his wife sprang out of the window.

Sad Affair at the Bay—Three Men Drowned.

About ten o'clock this forenoon, three men, prisoners from the Monroe county penitentiary, were accidentally drowned in Irondequoit Bay, near the Float Bridge, by the upsetting of a skiff. These men were engaged in cutting flags to be used for seating chairs at the Penitentiary, and when the accident occurred they were passing from one island of flags to another, in a scow or flat bottomed skiff.

There was a party of six prisoners and an overseer in the skiff, which somehow dipped water, when, supposing that it would sink, all jumped out. One prisoner swam to a landing place, another saved the overseer, and a third was saved by clinging to the skiff.

The three who went down and were drowned, were James Sheridan, Michael Lynch and Edward Donohue. These were sent up by Police Justice Buttrell, on short sentences, from this city. Sheridan was about 40 years old, and leaves a wife and children. He was sent up on the 5th of June, for sixty days. His sentence would have expired on Thursday.

Donohue was about the age of the last named, but we do not learn that he had a family. He was sent up on the 9th of July for thirty days.

Lynch was a young man aged about twenty-five years, and has parents residing in this city. He was sent up on the 27th day of July for thirty days

The bodies of the men have been recovered, and an inquest is being held by Coroner Quinn, this afternoon.

These men had been at work several days cutting flags, and sought employment, as it gave them an opportunity to exercise in the air and enjoy themselves. None but orderly, well disposed prisoners are permitted to go on this work. They were not chained or menaced in any way, either while going too or from work, or while there. One report is that the dipping of the boat was caused by the frolicking of the men, who were no doubt having a good time for convicts. It is a sad that human life should be thus sacrificed at wholesale; but it is relieved somewhat by knowing the fact that no one was to blame but the sufferers themselves.

TERRIFIC AND DISASTROUS HAIL STORM.—We learn that one of the most disastrous hail storms that has ever been known in the West, visited the town of Dwight, in Livingston County, on the line of the St. Louis, Alton & Chicago R.R., last Saturday. The facts are scarcely credible, but we vouch for their correctness as stated below: The hail stones were like pieces of cut ice, and some of them were seven inches in diameter. They fell in perfect torrents, striking down cattle, men, shrubbery and crops as if beaten down with a shower of stones. Thousands of acres of corn that was getting along finely, with the promise of an excellent yield, were cut down as if by reapers, and rendered a total loss to the farmers. Orchards were stripped, and gardens and oat and wheat fields beaten to the earth.

Mr John C. Spencer, who owns a large farm at Dwight, informs us that he had 240 acres of corn, which is all ruined; also 550 acres of wheat and 110 acres of oats, which met the same fate.

Scarcely a whole window pane can be found in the town, all having been broken by the hail. Window sashes and roofs were also in many cases badly cut and split. The cattle that happened to be in the fields at the time, had gashes cut into their flesh inches in length, and we hear of at least one man who was so badly cut and bruised by the heavy hail stones that he is laid up, and not expected to live.

After the storm, we are assured, the earth was completely covered with hail, inches in depth. How far the storm extended has not yet been ascertained, but it appears to have passed across the St. Louis Railroad about three miles, but how far from the road on either side we are not advised. The amount of the damage done in the immediate vicinity of Dwight alone, is estimated at thousands of dollars.

We learn from Sterling, Whiteside County, that on the same day a hail storm, similar to the above in its character and effect, visited that vicinity, doing vast damage.—Chicago Journal August 5.

FAILURE OF THE CINCINNATI GRAPE CROP.—Within a radius of 25 miles of Cincinnati it is computed that there are 2,500 acres of ground devoted to the culture of grapes. In favorable seasons the average of wine per acre is 200 gallons, equal to 500,000 gallons as the whole crop for the section described, worth, fresh from the the press, $500,000. The failure of the grape crop is therefore a serious loss to the cultivators, and we regret to see by a communication in the Cincinnati Gazette, that to the general loss of the fruit crop of apples, peaches, &c., in Ohio this season, that of the grape is to be added. The writer says:

"The crop this season, may be designated as almost an entire failure. Some few vineyards will have something of a crop, but in the aggregate all the wine produced will not pay the expenses of tending the crop."

A RAT ITEM.—Yesterday afternoon, our pressman made some new ink rollers for the presses The composition from which these are made, as is well known to all who have ever been about a printing office, is glue and molasses melted together. When cool it is a tough, gelatinous jelly-like substance, somewhat resembling India rubber in appearance. After the rollers were moulded, a part of the composition was left in a kettle in the engine room, in a warm fluid condition. This morning, five large live rats were found in the kettle, firmly imbedded in the composition, and making desperate but ineffectual efforts to get out. Their most violent muscular efforts merely imparting a tremulous motion to the surface. They had evidently spent a very unpleasant night, and their tempers become somewhat ruffled, as they occasionally relieved their feelings by squeaking and biting at each other. The boys soon put them beyond the reach of further trouble.—Madison Journal.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—There was a terrible thunder storm in the town of Hinckly, on Monday, P. M., the 2d inst.

Lightning struck the wagon shop of Woodruff & Dean, and killed instantly Mr. S. P. Woodruff. Mr. W.'s father and two others were standing near, and were not hurt. Mr. W. was caught by his father before he fell, but no signs of life were apparent.

The deceased was a young man—leaves a wife and three children, and was much respected for his good character and industrious habits.

No signs or marks of injury were discovered, except a very small mark on his temple and shoulder. The skin was not even broken.—Cleveland Herald.

DAN RICE'S TRAINED CAMEL KILLED.—Dan Rice's Trained Camel was killed on Friday last. The Company was going from Brazil to Green Castle, Ind., and as the elephant and camel which was chained together, were crossing a bridge, about nine miles from the latter place, they broke through. The elephant caught a beam with his trunk, and found a footing for one of his legs, and so saved himself by main strength, climbing upon the firm part of the work; but the poor camel swung by his side, when he reached terra firma with a broken neck.

BIG DAY'S WORK.—We are informed by Mr. I. Perry, that on Saturday last, at the mill of John F. Guyles, South Side, 17,664 feet of siding were turned out in 11 hours, with an upright saw and a siding mill.

This is what we call going it with a rush, and if any of our other mills can beat it we will gladly call round for the figures. Let us have the documents, gentlemen.—Manitowoc Tribune, Aug. 3d.

THE GUANO TRADE.—The transportation of guano, which at no long time past employed several hundred sail of large ships, seems to be entirely fading out. There is stated to be two or three years stock now on hand in all the markets where it has been sold, and the latest advices from the Chincha Islands state that there were only 18 ships loading there on the 24th of June. At the same time last year there were 180 loading, and the year previous a still greater number.

Washington Matters.

WASHINGTON, August 4.

Two thousand troops, equipped with the most effective arms, will soon be in the territories of Washington and Oregon, and make a vigorous fall and winter campaign against the hostile Indians. General Harney will command the operations.

The receipts into the Treasury for the quarter ending the 30th of July were over $28,000,000, including $9,950,000 from customs, and $1,262,900 from Treasury notes.

The expenditure for the same period were $26,780,000, including nearly $4,000,000 for interest on the public debt, and the payment of treasury notes.

Re-Nomination of Hon. E. Wade.

THE RECENT ATTEMPT TO COMMIT SUICIDE.—The name of the unfortunate individual who attempted to commit suicide at the American House, in this city, on Sunday morning last, by cutting his throat, is W. C. KELLOGG, late of the firm of MCBRIDE & KELLOGG, of Fond du Lac, as we learn from the Democratic Press, a paper published there.

The Press says that the news of the unfortunate affair was received with great surprise at Fond du Lac, where MR. KELLOGG has resided for the past two years. It will be remembered that we stated that Mr. KELLOGG had removed from Fond du Lac to Eau Claire, where his partner, (whose name we did not know) collected what was due the firm and made off with the funds, &c. This the Press informs us is entirely incorrect, and calculated to do injustice to an honest man. Mr. KELLOGG, it says, was for some time connected with MR. ALEXANDER MCBAIDE in the boot and shoe business, when the firm established a branch of their business in Eau Claire, with the ultimate intention of removing there altogether. Mr. K. went to the latter place and Mr. MCBRIDE remained in Fond du Lac for the purpose of closing up the business affairs of the firm. He is still there, the Press tells us, and has no intention of "making off" with any body's money. We make this correction with pleasure. It is needless to say we had no intention of doing injustice to any one, in commenting upon the affair, and what we published was the report here at the time of the occurrence, which no doubt had its foundation in the unfortunate man's ravings while laboring under a temporary derangement of mind.

We learn that MR. KELLOGG is doing well at the hospital of the Sisters of Charity, and no doubt is now entertained of his recovery.

TEMPERANCE LECTURES THIS EVENING AND TOMORROW.—This evening we are informed THURLOW WEED BROWN, the celebrated temperance orator, will deliver a discourse upon his favorite theme at the Lecture Room of the Presbyterian Church, corner of Milwaukee and Mason streets. Mr. BROWN will also, as announced, address our citizens on Sunday afternoon, on the Court House Square, upon the same subject, commencing at half after four o'clock. Seats will be provided for the ladies, and a general attendance is invited. To those not acquainted with Mr. BROWN, we would say that he is a speaker of more than ordinary ability, and a sincere and enthusiastic advocate of the temperance cause.

DID THEY?—Did the managers of the Milwaukee & Mississippi R. R. Company dead-head the members of the Jenny Lind club, not connected with the press, on the late excursion to St Paul, though they could not give us an invitation to ride with them. Did they?—Free Democrat.

We hope that the "managers" aforesaid will answer this query. If there were any "Members of the Jenny Lind Club" on the late excursion to St. Paul, we want to know it. We had supposed, all along, that the party was quite a select one.

NEW BOAT.—Our Milwaukee Boat builder, BROOKS, has just finished a six-oared race boat for the Winona Club, of this city, which is a beauty to look at and a clipper to go. She is 40 feet long, built of white cedar, very light, and of elegant proportions. If entered for the promised Regatta at the State Fair, in October, she will be hard to beat. She is now getting on her paint, at LANE'S shop on Spring Street, and will be ready for service in a few days.

DANGEROUS COUNTERFEIT.—A new counterfeit has made its appearance in our streets, which is well calculated to deceive the unwary. It is a counterfeit $10 bill on the State Bank of Ohio, a very close imitation of the genuine. There is a little roughness in the engraving. The eyes of figures the in main vignette are a little defective. We are told that several of these spurious bills have been passed during the past day or two.

MERRILL'S AMERICAN CORNET BAND.—In speaking of this BAND, a day or two since, we stated that it had already taken in $2,000, which is liable to be misunderstood. We should have said that the members had already paid in this amount, and the balance of their debt, the cost of their instruments, $1,600, they are endeavoring to make up by honorary membership, and we trust that our citizens will not be behind hand in giving encouragement to an institution so creditable to our city.

DETROIT AND MILWAUKEE R. R.—This route East is rapidly coming into favor, and those who have tried it are loud in its praises. With two first-class steamers on Lake Michigan, to make the connection, we do not doubt that it would secure the great bulk of the travel, East and West.

"GREAT EXHIBITION—SOMETHING THAT HAS NOT BEEN SEEN BEFORE!"—Under this attractive heading, in another column, will be found the programme of a "Great Exhibition" which is to take place at Treat's Hall, on Monday and Tuesday evenings next. The entertainments are to be given by the "great Trumpet Artist," MR. JAS. HRASER; (if any one of our many readers can pronounce the artist's name without dislocating his jaw bone, then he is capable of performing a feat which we have not the courage to undertake this warm weather.)

We learn from the programme, that "the great Trumpet Artist will appear in a costume, the like of which one never before been seen in the states of North or South America." It tells us, too, that "he will represent six different characters," and that "he will make an excellent speech in English and German." By way of a hint to the public, that they had better take this opportunity to witness the performance of the great Trumpet Artist, at the bottom of the programme is the admonition that "this is the last occasion to see the great Artist, since he is leaving, after exhibiting in the principal cities of the United States, for a tour to Europe."

From the advertisement alone, we should conclude that the exhibition was to be a peculiar one, but having a slight acquaintance with the artist, we are led to the belief that it will be a great deal more peculiar than most of our readers would imagine. MR. HRASER, (call him what you please) is an old and familiar friend of the Milwaukee public. The harmonious sounds of his trumpet have oft been heard through our streets, and there is scarcely a housewife in all the city, who has not been amused with "Gabriel," as he came round on his periodical visits, blowing his trumpet and selling his yeast. But GABRIEL'S occupation is gone,—that is so far as peddling yeast is concerned. Believing that he possessed a dramatic as well as musical talent, his friends have persuaded him to dispose of his yeast peddling accoutrements and offer himself for public favor on the stage. The proposed exhibitions will undoubtedly be of the richest kind, and we bespeak for GABRIEL, now MR. HRASER, the Great Trumpet Artist, a rousing turn out from his numerous friends, upon this the occasion of his first appearance in the character of the Great Trumpeter!

THE ART UNION DISTRIBUTION.—The Distribution of the pictures of BROOKS & STEVENSON'S Art Union, took place at YOUNG'S Lecture Room on Thursday evening. Dr. PERRINE was appointed by the audience to preside over the meeting, and Messrs. CADY and SWAFFIELD were appointed to conduct the distribution, Mr. MASON acted as Secretary, and Mr. CADY being obliged to leave himself, Messrs. SWAFFIELD and PERRINE drew out the chances. There were 190 chances that were not taken, also several who had subscribed, had not paid up, and their names were scratched off. This made the chances of BROOKS & STEVENSON good for several pictures, and they did draw two or three of the best pictures in the collection. Everything was conducted fairly, and with general satisfaction. The pictures, such as have not yet been taken away, are at the studio of the artists, where the drawers can get them, together with the bust of SOLOMON JUNEAU. Below we give the full list of the successful shareholders, with the names of the pictures they drew, and the numbers:

ARREST OF A THIEF.—On Thursday night, about 1 o'clock, Chief of Police BECK and officer GARLICK met a fellow in the 3d Ward lugging off a heavy trunk on his shoulders, who, not giving a satisfactory account of himself, they arrested. He said he had just come from Racine, and was going to put up at a hotel over the river, mentioning the name of one of our first class houses. Upon being questioned as to what were the contents of the trunk, he said he had his clothes in it. Chief BECK then asked him for the key, that he might open it, and see whether what the prisoner had told him was true. After fumbling for some time through his pockets, the fellow drew forth a little padlock key, which he said belonged to the trunk, but would not fit it within a mile or less. This convinced BECK, of course, that the fellow had stolen the trunk, and he was fully confirmed in this belief when, upon opening it, he found that it was filled with ladies apparel and household goods, and since then he has learned that it belonged to the Tremont House. The thief gave his name as HIRAM DRAKE. He is from Chicago, we believe, and a brother of his is now in the State Prison of Illinois. He will be examined this morning before Justice WALWORTH.

WATCH LOST.—A lady lost a Gold Watch at Melin's Garden, or near there, on the street, on Thursday evening, while at the Promenade of the Musical Society. The watch is open faced; M. J. TOBIAS, Liverpool, maker; No. 142,088; number written on inside of case, 6,690. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving said watch at the Counting Room of the Daily Sentinel.

POLICE COURT YESTERDAY.—The police keep up the war upon the fair frail ones. Julia Riley was brought up yesterday on the charge of keeping a house of ill-fame, and upon being convicted was fined $50 and costs, in default of which she was sent to the County Jail for three months.

Frederick Kunz was arrested for keeping a similar house, and the case continued to the 7th for examination.

Thomas Smith was convicted of disorderly conduct, and fined $10 and costs.

The case of George McCormick and Thomas Wheeling, charged with disorderly conduct, was adjourned to to-day.

Charles Hott was convicted of stealing a plate from a crockery crate, in the Second Ward, and sent to Jail for fifteen days.

A hard looking cuss named Hiram Drake, was brought up on the charge of stealing a trunk from the Tremont House. The defendant asked for time to procure counsel, and the case was adjourned to this morning.

LEVIATHAN SALOON, YOUNG'S BLOCK.—The Leviathan Lager Bier Saloon of JOHN SCHAUS, in the basement of Young's new Block, on the corner of Wisconsin and Main Streets, is the most elegant and spacious establishment of the kind in Milwaukee. The Lager is of the best quality and always "ice-cool." SCHAUS' cellars are also stocked with the best of Wines and Liquors.—The Saloon is ornamented with a number of remarkably handsome and well-executed pictures, painted on the plaster by that excellent artist and worthy citizen, H. VIANDEN.

"JACK WARRIOR."—This celebrated horse, which was exhibited at the last State Fair held at this city, by Dr. A. L. CASTLEMAN, it will be seen by an advertisement in another column, is offered for sale at Waterville, in Waukesha county.

Amende.

The undersigned, having, with some of our friends, published one or more cards in March and April, reflecting harshly on the Ætna Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn., for applying, as we thought, improperly to the case of our loss, the clause in their and other policies touching damage to goods by removal, do hereby take this method of saying to all interested in the matter, that we now consider that the whole difficulty has resulted from misapprehension, and perhaps unnecessary misunderstanding in the case; and that we have, as we ever hitherto have had, the fullest confidence, not only in the ability but in the disposition of the Company to do that justice to all its policy holders for which it has deservedly so wide a reputation; and we do hereby expressly withdraw all that we have said or published disparagingly to the Company, or to those who have acted for it in the premises.

"I HAVE SAVED $500."—This remark, made by a gentleman the other day, whose strength had been restored by a bottle of Prof. DeGraaf's, genuine, "ELECTRIC OIL," would apply to thousands, especially to the man or woman who depends on self-exertion for support. No person can save money who is half the time sick, lame, rheumatic, and suffering from pain; but if timely caution were used, and before consumptions become sealed from cold and exposure, the application of this "Electric Oil" should be made, hundreds of dollars would be saved, and life would be made tolerable also. Ask Mark Gregg, Esq., 45 Marshall street, Philadelphia, and hundreds more who have been cured. N. B.—No charge for advice.

Gov. Randall and the Land Grant.

The refusal of GOV. RANDALL to give the necessary certificate to the La Crosse & Milwaukee R. R. Company, to enable them to obtain a portion of the public lands granted to this state, has been the theme of very extended comment in the newspapers and elsewhere. We have already expressed very briefly our own view of the matter, and while dissenting from the correctness of the Governor's construction of the law, have never questioned the honesty of his motives, or the sincerity of his opinions. Two of our city cotemporaries, however, the News and the Wisconsin, have vied with each other in denunciation of the act itself and in the imputation of the most sordid, corrupt and unworthy motives to Gov. RANDALL. They have endeavored to hold him up to public censure, as unfaithful to the trust reposed in him, and have sought to awaken local prejudice by falsely representing that he was hostile to Milwaukee. In this way they have not only belittled a grave question of public policy, but have succeeded in arraying against Milwaukee and on the side of the Governor, the great majority of the press and people of the State.

The following extracts from the News of yesterday are good samples of the style and spirit in which it has discussed the subject:

In regard to RANDALL's refusal to give certificates, and deeds to the La Crosse Co, the Milwaukee press, and the Milwaukee public, entertained but one opinion—all believed him wrong; and while some, doubtless, attributed it to an error of judgment, the great majority believed him corrupt.

The law of Congress is too plain to admit of two constructions; and, while Madison may sustain the Governor in his attempt to coerce the Company into the building of a road for some Chicago Co., from Madison to Portage City, we apprehend that no sensible person ever supposed that Milwaukee would sit quietly by and witness such a gross perversion of the act of Congress. We protested against it, as an arbitrary and unwarranted interference, on the part of the Governor. To have acted otherwise would have been to have acquiesced in this high handed outrage.

We might offset, against this isolated opinion of the News, extracts from three-fourths of our exchanges, Republican and Democratic, from all quarters of the State, warmly sustaining the action of the Governor, and giving him due credit for honesty of motive and firmness of purpose.—But that is not necessary, for it must be obvious to all—even to those who differ from the Governor in the construction which he has put upon the Law—that no suspicion of corruption can by possibility attach to him. Unquestionably, he has dealt with the subject as one which interests and concerns the entire State, and not Milwaukee alone; and has been governed in his course by a strict sense of duty.

The Madison Journal, on its side, has been quite as intemperate and denunciatory as the News and Wisconsin. Thus, in its Thursday's issue, it says:

There are three papers in Milwaukee professing to advocate Republican principles, and mainly deriving their legitimate support from the Republicans of the State. But all are either openly or secretly arrayed against Governor RANDALL, simply because he has refused to violate the laws of the State at the dictation of the local interests and selfishness of Milwaukee speculators and corruptionists. They pretend to be Republican, but they only support that party when it yields to every exaction which they are pleased to make in the name of their city.

Now, so far as the Sentinel is concerned, this is not only entirely false, but grossly and wilfully untrue. We have neither "openly" nor "secretly" arrayed ourselves against Gov. RANDALL.—We have made no "exactions" from him, or others, in the name of our city, or at the dictation of those whom the Madison paper civilly styles "Milwaukee speculators and corruptionists."—And as to Republican "professions," we are quite content to leave our faith to be judged by our works. In this Land Grant business, we have deprecated the action of the Governor as calculated to impair the credit and cripple the means of the Company, and to retard the progress of the great enterprise they have in hand. But we have never expressed a doubt as to the Governor's sincerity of opinion, or integrity of motive. Nor do we think that Milwaukee is the only, or the chief sufferer by the Executive act. Our road to La Crosse is secured beyond peradventure. It is the Madison and Columbus branches that are stopped by the refusal of the Governor to issue the Land Certificates; and the numerous stock, bond, and farm-mortgage holders, who find these securities depreciating on their hands by reason of that refusal.

It may be the cue of the State Journal, as it is of the News and Wisconsin, to treat this as merely a local question between Madison and Milwaukee. We view it in no such narrow light, but rather as a question affecting our whole State, as well as thousands out of our State who have invested their means, in good faith, in the securities of the La Crosse and Milwaukee R. R. Co., and who are threatened with heavy loss, if not ruin, by the impending bankruptcy of the concern. This is a calamity that we would most gladly see averted, but how it can be done, if they are denied the lands, we cannot conceive.

Look out for the Railroads.

We find an ominous warning in the LaCrosse Democrat—one which will do for the warning of both parties in the State, as the machinery of both will doubtless be used to accomplish the effort here foreshadowed:

"We understand that railroad influences are at work to secure a good nomination for the Assembly. Perhaps that company will gain additional reputation—time will decide. The people, this fall, will select their candidates for Congress and Assembly. Watch it."

We trust that all attempts to "stock" the Legislature by railroad companies will be frowned down and defeated. The people are of more account than the railroads.—Madison Argus.

The Madison Journal throws some additional light upon this notable scheme to "pack" the next Legislature. It says that circulars have been freely distributed about the State, inviting aid to publish and distribute a large edition of Mr. KILBOURN's defence against the report of the Investigating Committee. One of these circulars, says the Journal, contained the following postcript in Mr. KILBOURN's hand-writing:

"P. S. I have a good understanding with two of the directors of the La Crosse road at the east, and am bringing about a private understanding between Barstow and his friends and my friends. The News and Kilbourn City Mirror are in our interest, and Cramer's friends can manage him to the same end. We think that with my defense and a sharp war on Randall, the mortgage law and assessment law, we can CARRY THE LEGISLATURE this fall, and SOON GET CONTROL OF THE RAILROADS and State government. We must work cautiously, so that the people are not apprised of our purposes. I PUMP wants any assistance to keep up his fight on Randall, he must have it." K.

The Waukesha Republican also notices these Railroad circulars and the "K" endorsements.—The Argus, while warning the people in general terms, against the effort of the Railroad Companies to get possession of the next Legislature, entirely ignores the particular arrangement referred to in the above postscript.

The News and other papers intimate that the postscript is a forgery. The State Journal confidently avers that it is in Mr. KILBOURN's hand writing. Mr. K. himself, as yet, neither denies, nor admits its authenticity. We shall wait to hear from him before commenting further upon the matter. Certainly the P. S. does not read like him.

More Bogus Banking.

The Janesville Gazette of yesterday contains the following notice of some sharp financial operations by the so-called City Bank of Janesville. It is quite as well that the public should beware of the notes, certificates and drafts of this City Bank:

WHAT IS IN THE WIND.—Imlay's Bank Note Reporter of the 28th ult., published in Philadelphia, contains the following announcement:

"FAILING.—It is reported that the Central Bank (not the City, as has been announced) of Janesville, Wisconsin, has, in several instances of late, been unable to redeem its own paper on presentation."

This looks, in connection with circumstances known to exist, as if some swindling operation with time certificates of deposit on the City Bank is, or was to be attempted in the vicinity of Philadelphia, by throwing the discredit attached to the City Bank upon the Central Bank. There is not in the State a sounder banking institution than the Central Bank. It has been in operation three years, has a paid capital of $100,000, and has never, at any time, during even last fall and winter, when not only the eastern banks openly suspended, and many western banks delayed a specie redemption of their bills, refused or failed to meet every piece paper when presented for payment.

The report mentioned by the Reporter was probably information communicated by some person having paper of the City Bank to dispose of, and took this method to avert the effect of the exposure which has recently been made in relation to it.

While upon this subject, it may not be amiss to state that since our last publication more certificates or drafts of the City Bank have been protested, and that we have credible authority for saying that not less than $11,000 of time certificates of deposite have been protested within the last three months, and a large amount of drafts on New York returned here protested. A number of its bills, we also learn, are now under protest in the Comptroller's office in this state. A pretty extensive business in the issue of its paper seems to have been done, and quite an extensive a business in the refusal to pay it when due.

NEW METHOD OF RAISING THE PRICE OF WHEAT.—The Madison Patriot of this morning, announces that the Democracy are going to ignore all divisions, take their stand on the Cincinnati platform, and "restore general prosperity, and a fair price for wheat to the farmers of Wisconsin!"

TERRIBLE DEATH OF A LADY IN DANE COUNTY.—The Madison Argus, of yesterday, contains the following particulars of the terrible death of Mrs. MILLER, wife of the Postmaster at Sweet Home, in Dane County:

We regret to learn of the fearful death of Mrs. Miller, wife of Mr. Miller, Postmaster at Sweet Home, in this county. Last Sunday she started on horseback, either to church or a neighborhood visit. She was discovered about two hours afterwards, in a lane through which she was passing, quite dead, her clothing torn entirely from her body, except one stocking, and her right leg terribly smashed and mangled. The supposition was that the horse had thrown her and dragged her a considerable distance by her stirrup foot.

THE PURCHASE OF MOUNT VERNON.—The Philadelphia Journal denies the correctness of the report that Mr. John A. Washington intends to remove the remains of George Washington from the tomb at Mount Vernon before transferring it to the Ladies' Association. The contract, also, includes the remains. We are glad to publish this correction.

A LARGE PEAR TREE.—There is a Pear Tree in Monroe, Mich., which measures as follows:—Girth of body, 8 feet 11 inches; girth at first limb, 4:9; second limb, 4:9; third limb, 5:3.—The tree is an old settler, and very productive.

From the N. Y. Tribune.

PROPERTY ADRIFT.—The following is copied from a handbill circulated in and about the metropolis of this great and free Republic. The felonious chattel who so treasonably jumped from a stage-coach while in motion, "with his hands fastened with handcuffs," "will no doubt aim for a free State," says his master. What ingratitude! What blindness! Who can want further evidence of the profound Union-saving truth that "a negro is not a white man?" A white man, we all know, would have "put" for his old home, where he could find a kind master to take care of him, or, more probably, would never have jumped from the stage at all; yet just see how this perverse nigger misbehaved himself!

$250 REWARD!—Runaway from the subscriber, on the 14th of July, a negro man named HENRY. He is about 19 years old; 5 feet 6 inches high; black. He was purchased of Mr. Lewis Hawlings, of Loundoun County, Va., by James Spinks, and jumped off of the stage about half a mile above Alexandria, with his hands fastened with handcuffs. He will no doubt aim for a Free State. I will give the above reward for his return to me, dead or alive, no matter where taken. JOSEPH BRUIN.

THE R. R. DEPOT.—We rejoice to learn that the Depot difficulty has been settled, and that the corner stone of the building was laid or driven last Saturday, in presence of a number of workmen and two pile drivers, which are to be employed in driving down the foundation. The building is to be 45 by 100 feet. The grounds for the depot occupy a frontage on the river of 1400 feet, just above the mouth of the LaCrosse. If we can have a good road to them they are near enough to town, if the water is of sufficient depth for the boats.—La Crosse Republican, Aug. 3.

For the Sentinel.

The Atlantic Telegraph.

MR. EDITOR:—Along the "world's exquisite nerve," now reposing in quietude on the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean, currents of Anglo-Saxon joy are flashing. The two mightiest and most enlightened nations of the world are about to exchange salutes. Queen VICTORIA and President BUCHANAN are about to gossip with each other, while more than 2,000 miles apart. The two nations are indeed "flushed with joy;" each is eager to send, "gliding unseen along the Atlantic's bed" expressions of good will towards each other. Humanity laughs joyously, and Christianity smiles serenely at this wonderful triumph of Anglo-Saxon genius. We may again exclaim "WHAT HATH GOD WROUGHT." Revered be the memory of FRANKLIN! And what sailor will not throw up his "tarpaulin" for MAURY? Who will not give three cheers for MORSE, FIELD, COOPER, and a host of others? And what man, with Anglo-Saxon blood in his veins, but will reverentially thank God, that the greatest work and wonder of the age has been accomplished—that the Atlantic Telegraph Cable has been successfully laid, and that almost to a certainty, every cause of trouble or danger of future difficulty that might threaten the peace of America and Britain has been forever removed.

May I ask you, Mr. Editor, to republish the following, which appeared in your edition of January 16th, 1857. It will be seen that the prediction lacks but a month of being exactly verified.

PUBLICOLA.

Milwaukee, August 5, 1858.

(From the Sentinel, January 16th 1857.)

FRANKLIN'S BIRTHDAY—THE PHILOSOPHER AND THE TRANS-ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—An English journal, (London Post,) in speaking of the Atlantic Telegraph, and in allusion to FRANKLIN's discovery of the affinity of lightning and electricity, says:—"But what would the father of electrical science have said, if he had known that there were children in the world which he was leaving who would live to see the day that all England rejoiced that such was the triumph of science, that the salute, which inaugurated the 4th of July in New York, might be fired by English engineer officers in London!"

Yet such is the fact! A few months hence, perhaps less than a year, "the world's exquisite nerve," reposing in quietude upon its Atlantic bed, safe from the current, secure from storms, will be the track of speech between the two mightiest nations, the one linked chain connecting the old and the new world, tieing together the mother country to her once colonies, but now her more powerful daughter and rival.

The keen eye of an American sailor discovered the bank or ridge in the deep Atlantic, the resting place, designed by the Creator, we might say, for the Telegraphic Cable, and may we not call it MAURY's Telegraph Plateau; for, as the name of FRANKLIN the Philosopher is forever linked with electricity, so let the name of MAURY the sailor be forever identified with the Plateau upon which the Telegraphic wire will repose for ages.

Those familiar with the history of the Electric Telegraph in this country, will remember how Professor MORSE for some time despaired of getting his bill through Congress, and how a young lady befriended him, and on the passage of the bill, was the first to communicate the fact to the Professor. In return for this kindness, the Professor promised her, that she should indite the first despatch sent on a complete telegraph line in the United States, and when all was ready he notified the young lady, who sent the following brief despatch—"WHAT HATH GOD WROUGHT." This was the first despatch ever sent upon a complete line in America.

If, and we see no reason to doubt it, the "Trans Atlantic Telegraph" be completed by the Fourth of July, 1858, who knows but the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, may indite some brief despatch, and send "in less than no time" a greeting of good will from Great Britain to America? Who knows but that upon the eighty-second birthday of America, Victoria's hand may direct the spark, that gliding unseen along the Atlantic's bed, shall discharge an international salute on America's jubilant birthday? The two nations will flush with joy, and the hearts of the two people thrill with pleasure at such an expression of their mutual good will. Despotic governments would tremble and quake as they witnessed the two most powerful and most enlightened nations of the world shaking hands with each other across the sea. Christianity would smile as she saw that nations were fulfilling her tenets, in the spirit of forgiveness of all past wrongs. Mankind, the whole world, would be benefitted as the feeling of ill will was forever banished between England and America. Christians might truly exclaim—

"WHAT HATH GOD WROUGHT."

More than a century has elapsed since FRANKLIN first placed lightning conductors upon buildings, the first wires along which electricity was made to travel; soon a wire near 3,000 miles in length will convey it from continent to continent. The Printer's kite string—the lightning conductors on buildings, were the forerunners of the electric telegraph. It has been truthfully said, by whom we do not know—"When FRANKLIN drew down the lightning and identified it with electricity, he forever allied his name to a subtile element, whose every subsequent revelation is associated with the kite and key, the thunder and conductor, the benign image and endeared name of the Boston printer, the Philadelphia sage and the American Patriot." FRANKLIN first discovered how to conduct electricity, who will discover how to condense it?

A Murderer Hanged but not Killed.

THE POST MORTEM EXAMINATION—HEART STILL BEATING—SUBSEQUENT DISSECTION—WHO KILLED HIM?—One or two New England papers are arguing the question, who killed Magee? a murderer who was hung in Boston a few weeks ago, but whose body exhibited evidence of life and vitality at the subsequent dissection. A report of the post mortem examination published in the Medical and Surgical Journal, suggests the idea that Magee was not killed by the hangman's rope, but by the scalpel of the surgical operator; that enough life remained after the hanging, for proper appliances to have fanned itself into an active flame. The report says,

"The body was lowered at 55 minutes past 10, at which time a careful examination of the chest revealed no perceptible sound or impulse of the heart. A small space under the left ear seemed to have escaped active compression, so that some circulation might been continued through the carotid and jugular of that side.

"At a few minutes past 11 Dr. Ellis commenced the autopsy, at the house of reception. The body was pale and the skin mottled. A small ecchymosis was noticed just before the line of the cord on the right side. The right sterno cleido muscle was ruptured through one half its thickness. No lesion was discovered in any of the other soft parts of the neck.

"At 11:30 a slight but regular pulsatory movement was observed in the right subclavian vein. Upon applying the ear to the chest, this was ascertained to proceed from the heart, which gave a distinct and regular single beat, with a slight impluse, 80 times a minute. The chest was then opened, and the heart exposed, without in any way arresting the pulsatory movements.—The right auricle was in full and regular motion, contracting and dilating with beautiful distinctness and energy. At 12 o'clock, the spinal cord having been previously divided, the number of contractions was 40 per minute, having continued to this time.

"The peculiar movements of the anterior wall of the right auricle gradually but occasionally recurred, either spontaneously, or excited by a passing current of air, until 12 o'clock. They could at any moment be excited by the point of the scalpel.

"At 1 45 the movements still continued with out stimulus. Five were noticed in a minute with corresponding intervals. At 2 45 all automatic movements ceased, but the part still responded to the stimulus of the knife. At 3.10 deep irritation of the same kind was followed by slight movements. This irritability was most marked at the lower part where the vena cava enter the auricle. At 3.18 all movements ceased. On opening the heart, it was found to be perfectly normal. The left ventrical was contracted; the right not. No coagula were found.

"Dr. Ainsworth remarked, that all the appearances usually observed in cases of hanging, were wanting, and thought that the first effect of the sudden fall was a powerful concussion of the brain which paralyzed the body, as in cases where a blow or fall is received on the extremity of the sacrum, and that death occurred afterward from strangulation.

"Dr. Clark expressed the opinion that as there was no lesion of an important organ, resuscitation might possibly have been accomplished by artificial respiration, &c., if efforts to that end had been made immediately upon the lowering of the body from the scaffold—that is, within half an hour after he fell."

From the London Observer, July 17.

The Bulwer Lytton Domestic Imbroglio—Letter from Lady Lytton's Son—the Affair Settled.

We publish below a letter from Mr. Robert Lytton, the son of Sir Edward Lytton and Lady Lytton, which will inform the public of the real state of affairs that have come before them rather obscurely, but which are now entirely cleared up, and it is hoped happily ended. Mr. Lytton's letter, and his conduct throughout this painful matter, reflect the highest credit upon his judgment and feeling. Lady Lytton is with her son and her female friend and relative, and is perfectly satisfied with all the arrangements that have been made.

Sir—As the son of Lady Bulwer Lytton, with the best right to speak on her behalf, and so obviously with the best means of information as to warrant the hope that my simple assertion will be at once believed in the matter to which I am compelled to refer, I beg to say that the statements which have appeared in some of the public journals are exaggerated and distorted, and that they are calculated to convey to the public mind impressions the most erroneous and unjust. As was natural, I put myself in constant communication with my mother, and with the gentleman in his whose family, in his private house, she was placed, (for I beg distinctly to state she was never for a moment taken to a lunatic asylum,) and carried out the injunctions of my father, who confided to me implicitly every arrangement which my affection could suggest, and enjoined me to avail myself of the advice of Lord Shaftesbury in whatever was judged best and kindest to Lady Lytton.

My mother is now with me, free from all restraint, and about, at her own wish, to travel for a short time in company with myself and a female friend and relation of her own selection.

From the moment my father felt compelled to authorize those steps which have been made the subject of so much misrepresentation, his anxiety was to obtain the opinion of the most experienced and able physicians, in order that my mother should not be subject to restraint for one moment longer than was strictly justifiable. Such was the charge to me.

I trust that such journals as have given publicity to partial and inaccurate statements, will do me the justice to publish this communication, to which I need add no more than to say, that this painful matter has been arranged, as it ought to be, by the members of the family whom it exclusively regards. I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant,

ROBERT B. LYTTON.

SAD ACCIDENT—TWO MEN DROWNED.—Two Irishmen, industrious, hard working men of good character, were drowned just above this village in the Baraboo river, last Friday night, leaving afflicted families to mourn their loss. They had been engaged by Mr. S. C. Andrus in floating down square-headed timber for the Baraboo Semilary, and were bringing the last pieces of his contract about six o'clock in the afternoon, when the unfortunate disaster occurred, though its precise cause is yet, and probably will forever remain unknown.

The bodies were recovered, one on Saturday morning, and the other on the same afternoon. Their names were Patrick McDermott, who leaves a wife and child; and Owen Mulvey who leaves a wife and three children. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved, whose intense grief, on being informed of the sad catastrophe, is said to have been truly heart-rending.—Baraboo Republic, Aug. 5

A PRAYER FOR ONE BELOVED.

God, comfort my beloved! Since not to me
The gracious task is given, upon my breast
To hold him safe from sorrow and from tears,
Will Thou not gird him joy and peace and rest?
God, comfort my beloved.

Since 'tis not mine to cheer him on at morn
By tender words to tread his toilsome way,
Nor mine at noon to greet him with a smile,
Nor mine to whisper love at the end of day—
God, comfort my beloved.

Like some scathed tree in solitary wood
Torn by the winter's gale or blighting snow,
He stands alone while beating rains descend,
And fiercest winds with might restrictless blow—
God, comfort my beloved

I would that I could be some tender plant,
Some evergreen or closely clinging vine,
That round and round this toilsome tree
With close embrace my tendrils I might twine,
And comfort my beloved.

I would that thus so lovingly entwined,
A glow of warmth his drooping heart might know;
And so caressing, shielding, guarding still,
And never parting, in a wife, would grow
To comfort my beloved.

Vain wish, vain hope, fate mocks the shadowy dream,
Since not to me, the gracious task is given,
With eyes, hands, heart and soul upraised I pray,
(Would that my prayer could pierce the inner heaven,)
God, comfort my beloved.

Correspondence of the Journal of Commerce.

Curiosities of Paper Manufacture—The N Y Ledger, Boston Courier and Boston Journal, printed on paper made from Egyptian Mummy rags.

GARDINER, Me., July 27, '58.

Yesterday I visited, in company with Mayor Woods, of Gardiner, the two principal paper mills, and I was astonished in looking at the millions of pounds of rags piled up in warehouses or spread over acres of ground, to find that a portion of them had recently arrived from Alexandria, in Egypt. They were the most disagreeable odoriferous old clothes that I have ever had the bad fortune to smell. This doubtless was owing to the fact that a part of them were in damaged state. The Egyptian rags had been collected from all the corners of the Pacha's dominions—from the living and from the dead. How many cast off garments of Howadjis and Hadjis; how many tons of big, loose, Turkish, ragged breeches; and how many head-pieces in the shape of old doffed turbans, the deponent sayeth not. But the most singular and the cleanest division of the whole filthy mass came out from the limbs of the present generation of travellers,—pilgrims, peasants, soldiers and sailors of Egypt,—but were the plundered wrappings of men, bulls, crocodiles and cats, torn from the respectable defunct members of the same.

What a scene to call up the grim past! And what a desertion too, to take the garments of the Pharaohs, Ramesces, and of sacred bulls, holy crocodiles and pious cats, and mingling them with the vulgar unmentionable of the shave-pated herd of modern Egyptians, to ship them to the other side of the world,—to a land which Ptolemy's map had no room for,—there to grind them up to the music of cogwheels and the falls of Cohossee Conte! How little did the religious old Egytians think that they were piling away stores for the future cash accounts of Turkomans, and that the linen folds which so carefully bandaged their holy dead, should one day make the beautifully and high calendered paper on which Bonner prints the New York Ledger. Yes, in the two great paper mills known as "Richards & Haskins," and the "Great Falls Co," of Gardiner, I found that thousands of reams are monthly turned out for the New York Ledger, the Boston Journal, the conservative Boston Courier, the "old line Whig" Advertiser, and the penny Herald,—all of the city of "notions."

Mummy cloth as well as old rags of Italy, (how do they manage to produce so many rags there?) are ground up and come forth mingled in fond embrace and in the purest white. It has been ascertained that some of the Egyptian rags contain about 40 per cent of dust and dirt. The dust doubtless consists of many fine particles of Pharaoh's embalmed subjects, but not a few of the modern rags seem to have been spread upon the sands at the periodical overflow of the Nile, and received a deposit of the earth that has washed down from the mountains of Abyssinia. This adds to the weight, but Yankees will not be sold in this manner a second time.—While the modern rags are mostly cotton and of a blue color, the wrappings of old Sesostris and friends are linen, and of a dirty white or yellow.

An Incident of the White Mountains.

When the recent editorial excursion party were returning from the summit of the White Mountains, they met the Rev. Mr. Eames and his wife, who had just started from the Cold Spring to ascend. The clouds were threatening, and soon after the rain commenced falling. It was late in the afternoon, and fears were entertained that darkness would set in, and that the two wayfarers would be lost ere reaching their journey's end. A correspondent of the Tribune, who spent that night on the summit of the mountain, at the Tip Top House, thus speaks of their adventure:

"We had just seated ourselves around a little charcoal fire for an hour's talk, when a faint hallloo made itself heard through the darkness and fog. A Concord clergymen and his wife had been expected to spend the night; but the weather was such, and it had grown so late, that we had given them up. The instant they heard the shout, our hosts ran leaping like chamois down the mountain, and in the course of half an hour brought up the lady in their arms. She and her husband would have been within sight of the house on a fair night; they were only a little way out of the path, and close by the spot where the young woman perished two years ago. The poor estrays were drenched through, and the weaker one was almost dead with exhaustion. Her husband had been ballooning for half an hour, he thought, and was making up his mind to spend the night where they were, when his deliverers appeared.

From the Providence Journal we make an extract taken from a letter from the White Mountains, written by Mrs. Eames, in which letter she gives the account of the narrow escape from death of her husband and herself.—The letter says:

We often turned to gaze upon the scene below, but that consolation was soon debarred us, the mists and clouds effectually enshrouded us, so that we seemed to be walking in cloud-land, "gorgeous cloud-land." The thunder rolled beneath us, reverberating from mountain to mountain, the clouds enveloped us, and the scene became grand and awful.

Rolling up and up came the clouds, and then the rain beat down upon us to such an extent that in five minutes we were literally wet through. There was no alternative but to go on, for going by the guide board we were nearer the summit than the shed at Cold Spring, so on we went, though one may easily conceive that it is not the easiest thing in the world for a lady to walk with dripping skirts dangling about her feet.

Night came on with rapid strides, and the path became more and more hidden from sight. Nature was fast becoming exhausted, but we dared not to rest. The moments were too precious to be wasted in stopping, even for needful rest. Onward and upward we toiled, but, on my part, with fast diminishing strength of body and mind. The path became more and more toilsome, the soft earth being replaced by jagged rocks and stones, that wounded my feet at every step. Just as I thought we had reached the top, and flattered myself that the "Summit House" would soon meet my longing gaze, another peak would loom up amid the haze, and I knew that too must be surmounted ere the needful rest could be obtained.

In vain we shouted for help; our voices rang out in the air, but brought back no response save their own echo. I remembered the sad fate of her who, two years ago, lost her life near this very spot, caught as we had been, by night and storm overtaking them. In vain I urged my companion to leave me under the shelter of a rock, and go while his own strength lasted, to the summit, and send back assistance to me, but this he would not hear. He dared not leave me, for fear of losing his own way, and not being able to find me again. No; we must go on together, for weal or for woe. I dragged myself along, one foot slowly following another, often staggering and falling prostrate over the rocks, till I could not move another step, but sank down completely exhausted and despairing. I was too weak even to think.

Just then, oh joyful sound, Mr. E——, who was in advance, exclaimed that he saw a light ahead, and that the house must be nigh at hand. Even this gave me no strength. I was too far gone to move without help. Again and again my companion, who had held out to the very last, shouted, and at length his shouts were heard and answered. After a little, emerging from the clouds as it seemed, came the dim outlines of human forms, and in a moment we were surrounded by three men, who took turns in carrying me the next half mile, till we reached the Summit House. This morning, one of the men of owed me the spot where he picked me up, and where he had erected a pile of stones commemorative of the event. I am free to say that I could not help shuddering when I saw that it was only within a few feet from that built over the spot where Miss Bourne was found dead.

LIQUORS, CIGARS.

G. SEMMONDS,
SOLE PROPRIETOR AND MANUFACTURER OF PURE OHIO
Catawba Brandy.

THIS Brandy has been manufactured for several years from the pure juice of the Catawba Grape, thus affording additional evidence of the progress of American enterprise and industry, and of our ability to produce articles at home, equal to those made by any other nation.
The Ohio Catawba Brandy, not only equals but excels the best imported Brandies, in purity and flavor. It is in fact the best Brandy known. This statement is fully corroborated by the testimonies of our most distinguished analytical chemists.
The want of pure brandy has long been felt in this country, and the introduction of an article of such quality as is superior in taste and use to the foreign compounds hitherto sold under the name of Brandy, can only be regarded a great public good. The Catawba Brandy passes all the good qualities claimed for the best imported liquor, and is of perfect purity and superior flavor, and a sovereign and sure remedy for Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Cramp, Colic, Languor, Low Spirits, General Debility, &c.
NO FAMILY SHOULD BE WITHOUT IT.
RETAIL PRICE $1.25 PER BOTTLE.

COMMERCIAL & FINANCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY SENTINEL, }
Friday Evening, Aug. 6, 1858. }

MONEY MATTERS.—There is little or no change in the money market. Eastern Exchange is selling at 1¾ per cent premium. Currency is quite plenty, and the Banks have an abundance of money for all legitimate calls—Brokers rates are as before noticed, 1¾ to 2½ per cent per month, and little doing. Gold is selling at 1¾ per cent.

OUR MARKETS.

LA CROSSE & MILWAUKEE R. R., Aug. 6.—1,582 bus wheat, 4,080 bus oats, 78 bbls flour, 26 sacks do, 6 bbls eggs, 1½ bags bran, 748 lbs hides, 80 bags middlings, 8,400 ft lumber.

RECEIVED BY MIL. & MISS. R. R., Aug. 6.—168 bbls flour, 2,114 bus wheat, 1,500 bus oats, 125 bus potatoes, 9 999 lbs hides, 990 lbs butter, 5,516 lbs sundries, 1 car cattle, 1 reaper, 18 plows.

MIL. & HOR'N R. R., Aug. 6.—970 bus wheat, 1,694 bus oats, 4 bbls butter.

There was little done in the produce market to-day on account of the continuance of light receipts. Prices of wheat, corn, and oats advanced quite materially, and of the former there was not near enough on the market to supply the milling demand. Oats are in good shipping as well as local demand, and have advanced to 48c.—Any amount of good dry corn would readily bring 60a 67c for shelled. Not enough has been sold of late to establish a market price, and the quotations are mostly considerably below real value. A still further improvement is reported in both flour and wheat in the N. Y. market to-day. We quote:

WHEAT—Market firm, and prices advancing. Spring, 79a80c for common to No. 1; 80a85c for extra club, for fair to choice; winter, 80a60c for red, and 90a93 for white from good to extra.

OATS—In active demand at 40a43c. Sales to-day mostly at the latter figure.

CORN—Quoted at 50a60c. In large quantities it would be worth more.

BARLEY—Firm at at 45c50c.

RYE—Steady at 53c.

POTATOES—Declining, and quoted to-day at 35a50c.

EGGS—Scarce at 10a12c.

BUTTER—Fresh table butter is rather scarce. Firkin nominal.

HIDES—Green 6; salted 7; and dry 12½a14½c.

The Crops in Crawford County.

RENICA, Crawford Co., Aug. 2d.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—In the section of country from Prairie du Chien to Viroqua, about 50 miles, the wheat crop is almost a total failure. The early sown partially filled; remainder good for nothing. On the ridges the corn looks well; in the valleys generally light. There is considerable old grain on hand. The oats are now rusting, and must necessarily be light. Blight has struck the potatoes and beans. The harvest nearly half through round Viroqua, but not more than a fourth here.

Yours truly, B. B. NEWCOMBE.

WHAT? WHY A BEAUTIFUL HEAD OF HAIR.

Because it is the ornament God Himself provide d for all her race. Reader, allow us to say that you may bloom ever so brightly on the glowing cheek, the eye be ever so sparkling, the teeth be taste of pearls, if the head is bereft of its covering, or the hair be snarled and shrivelled, Age and Ugly or worse still, if varied with gray, nature will lose more than half her charms. Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, if used two or three times a week, will restore and permanently secure to all such an ornament. Read the following and judge. The writer of the first is the celebrated Parish, Thaibers:

DR. WOOD:— NEW YORK, April 19th, 1858.

Dear Sir: Permit me to express to you the obligation I am under for the entire restoration of my hair to its original color. About the time of my arrival in the United States I was rapidly becoming gray, but upon the application of your Hair Restorative, it soon covered its former hue. I consider your Hair Restorative as a very wonderful invention—quite harmless as well as agreeable. I am, dear sir, yours truly,

S. THALBERG.

WEEKLY NEWSPAPER OFFICE, }
118 NASSAU ST., April 12, 1858. }

PROF. O. J. WOOD:—Dear Sir: Some months or six weeks ago I purchased from you your Hair Restorative, and gave it to my wife, who concluded to try it on her hair, little thinking at the time that it would restore the gray hair to its original color; but to her, as well as my self, it has proved a perfect success. It has performed this wonderful effect by turning all the gray hair back to brown, at the same time beautifying and thickening the hair. I strongly recommend the above Restorative to all persons in want of such a change in their hair.

JAMES G. KILBY,
New York, July 25, 1857.

PROF. WOOD—About two years ago my hair commenced falling out and getting gray. I was then becoming bald, and had tried many Remedies to no effect. I commenced using your Restorative in January last. A few applications restored my hair freely. It began to fill up, grew thick and soft, and back to its natural color. To-day, at this time it is fully restored to its original color, health and appearance, and I cheerfully recommend its use to all.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of 3 sizes, viz: large, med um and small; the small holds ½ a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least 20 per cent more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent more in proportion, and retails for $3.
